SOUTH WEST TUC YOUNG
WORKERS' WEEKEND
FRIDAY 21 & SATURDAY 22 NOV.
JURYS' INN, EXETER

We don't think so.

We think young people deserve a better deal—proper job prospects; fairer access to good quality education; fairer pay which means we can afford to live; and a future where young people have the chance to be everything they can be; where they have the public services they need; to have a place to call their own.

But this future won't come out of nowhere. We have to build it. That's why the South West TUC is hosting a weekend for young trade union members in the region to come together, hear from—and question—Ben Bradshaw MP; to learn skills on campaigning with experts from Ruskin College, and start the campaign for a fair future for the West Country's young people.

This weekend will cost £130, the cost of which should be covered by your union. So come to Exeter, join with us and be the change we need to see.
