Welcome to the 2021-22 Wales TUC learning programme

Trade union reps and activists are our most important and vital resource in ensuring we can better protect workers and jobs across the whole of Wales. This is despite the devastating impact of the crisis on workers and their families, the surge in violations of health and safety that in some cases sadly led to the loss of workers lives and introduction of shameful bad work practices, such as fire and rehire that seek to divide workers and create anti-union hostility.

In Wales we have a proud tradition of working in Social Partnership. We remain committed to the Welsh Government introducing the new legislation of Social Partnership and Procurement which gives us a framework in which we can develop dedicated new learning programmes to address the challenges of achieving a green, equitable and just economic recovery, with worker voices and green reps at its heart. Our congress this year reaffirmed commitments to focus our efforts on strengthening occupational safety and health systems, reaching universal social protection for all, equality and inclusion for minoritised and marginalised groups, digitalisation and a just transition to environmentally sustainable economies with better paid, fair work - unionised jobs, 'closer to home'.

In tackling these issues, the COVID-19 pandemic has been an opportunity for trade union revitalisation. We have seen union membership grow across many sectors, including hospitality, retail and the taxi trade. We have won some good outcomes and better protections at work for many.

A proud trade union movement of 400,000 + members in Wales alone, tells us that workers understand the need for their voices to be heard, to be at the negotiating table and be treated as equal social partners in all decisions made by employers that impact them in the workplace and community.

Supporting and training reps through trade union education and learning is an important function of the Wales TUC work. Wales TUC education provides high quality, targeted training for all workplace union reps and activists in Wales. Our training is delivered through our providers at Coleg Gwent and Addysg Oedolion Cymru I Adult Learning Wales.

Whatever your level of experience, we offer a wide pool of courses that provide training opportunities for both the newly elected and experienced representatives. Our courses give union reps:

- → Skills
- → Knowledge and confidence needed to continue doing a great job.

Upon successful completion of our courses, reps will get nationally recognised educational credits. This booklet gives details of our latest courses, if you're unable to find a course to suit your interests/needs or you have any queries please don't hesitate to contact one of the Wales TUC education team.

In solidarity

Shavanah Taj General Secretary Wales TUC

Aiming for success

Our union reps training programme is designed to deliver a great learning experience, whether you are a:

- → union rep
- → health & safety rep
- → learning rep
- → equality rep
- → green/environmental rep
- → other trade union rep.

Widening choice

Sometimes life gets in the way, so if you can't attend a course contact us and we'll do our best to help.

Wales TUC tutors

You'll find training available that will give you the skills you need to make a real difference in your workplace.

Inclusive and welcoming

We want you to get the most out of our courses and to feel, that whatever your background, you are comfortable and safe. That's why we're committed to equal treatment regardless of sex, race, disability, sexual orientation, religion/belief or age. Everyone knows the importance of a good tutor. All our tutors are experienced trade unionists who understand the role of a rep. Our tutors keep up-to-date with everything they need to know about workplace issues, so you'll have the best learning experience from the people who know.

Guidance on paid release 1100

Guidance on paid release

Being a union rep is important and rewarding but it isn't always easy. Unions, government and employers know that training reps is essential.

That's why the law has entitled union reps to facilities time, which is paid time off to attend TUC or union training courses whether that's in a classroom or online. If you are a:

- → union rep
- ightarrow union health and safety rep or a
- → union learning rep

Union reps and health & safety reps

Union reps and health & safety reps should first ask their employer for time off with pay. More information can be found here:

→ Union reps

http://bit.ly/UnionReps

→ Health & safety reps
http://bit.ly/SRSC1977

$\overline{\mathbf{C}}$

Sources of legal rights to facility time are:

- → The Trade Union and Labour Relations Act 1992 (section 168)
- → The Safety Representatives and Safety Committees Regulations 1977 http://bit.ly/SRSCregs77
- → Time off for Trade Union Duties and Activities

ACAS Code of Practice 3. Available from http://bit.ly/ACAS_CoP3

→ Trade Union Representation in the Workplace ACAS Guide. Available from

http://bit.ly/UnionRep

If you are having difficulty in obtaining approved time off to attend training you should seek assistance from an experienced union rep or a full time official in your union.

Union learning reps (ULRs)

Alongside union reps and health & safety reps, union learning reps are entitled to paid release;

- → to complete their training
- → to provide information, advice and guidance to colleagues on learning and skills and in-work progression
- → to promote learning and skills in the workplace
- → to work with employers to develop and improve workplace policies and practices on learning and skills
- → to improve access to training and raise awareness of issues relating to learning in the workplace
- → to work with providers and other relevant stakeholders to develop workplace learning programmes

Specialist reps

These reps specialise in certain areas. These can include:

- → equality reps
- → green/environmental reps
- → disability champions
- → mental health champions
- → pensions champions

Specialist reps are covered by legislation on time off for union activities, but not specifically for union training. However, training recommendations are included in the ACAS guide Trade Union Representation in the Workplace.

Release for online learning

Our online learning has been put in place as a temporary measure while we're not able to offer classroom based courses due to Covid-19 social distancing and Welsh Government guidelines.

This will be under constant review and as soon as we're in a position to safely return to the classroom environment we will do.

For now, reps wishing to undertake our courses online will need to obtain release permission as you would do if you were going to physically attend a classroom based course.

The courses are offered online for ease of access and enable you to start or continue your learning journey. The online courses are tutor led courses and will help you through your learning journey. Online learning should not be an alternative to paid release from work. The law still applies, whether learning takes place away from work or in work. It could be more convenient both for reps and employers for learning to take place at work, but reps will still need time allocated at work to complete their learning.

You can use the Facility Time eNote to help you understand what the ACAS guidance provides for.

Code of conduct

The TUC is committed to organising activities at which everyone can participate in an inclusive, respectful and safe environment.

The TUC has zero tolerance for any type of harassment, including sexual harassment. Aggressive, offensive, intimidatory, disrespectful or unacceptable behaviour or comments will not be tolerated.

This supports the commitment set out in the TUC's rules to promote equality for all and to eliminate all forms of harassment, including sexual harassment, prejudice and unfair discrimination.

This policy applies to all aspects of communication at or in connection with an event, including postings on social media.

If you have any concerns about behaviour that you want to raise then please contact us by email: wtuc@tuc.org.uk

Accreditation

The Wales TUC accredits its programme. The Credit and Qualification Framework in Wales provides clear national recognition of the quality of courses and the achievements of union reps.

Union rep pathway

Union reps part 1

As a new union rep this course is essential. You'll find out:

- \rightarrow what it means to be a rep,
- \rightarrow how to represent your members effectively and
- \rightarrow how to take up both collective and individual issues with your employer.

You'll understand the role and responsibilities. These include working together with members and other union reps, talking to members and dealing with their problems, recruiting members and getting them involved in the union, meeting management to discuss a range of issues at work and keeping members informed.

Union reps part 2

If you have completed the union reps part 1 or your union equivalent, this course will help you advance within your trade union role. The course covers:

- → Leadership roles in the branch structure i.e. Chair, Secretary and Treasurer,
- → how trade union make decisions and how you can shape their policies,
- → undertake effective negotiations,
- → organise successful campaigns.

The best protection in the workplace is effective organised trade unions however understanding what our rights are and how to make best use of them is essential to your role. You will learn about:

- → Contracts of employment
- \rightarrow Fair or unfair dismissal
- \rightarrow Equality and diversity
- → Industrial action

Diploma in Employment Law

If you have completed the union reps parts 1 and 2 or your union equivalent and want to increase your skills and knowledge, then the Diploma in Employment Law is your next course. You will learn about the changing nature of employment law, individual rights and collective bargaining legislation and how it all affects the workplace and the people you represent. You will also gain legal, study and research skills equipping you with the tools to progress to higher level learning and professional qualifications.

Health and safety rep pathway

Health and safety part 1

As a new Health and safety rep, this course is essential. You'll find out :

- \rightarrow what it means to be a health and safety rep
- \rightarrow how health and safety is organised in your workplace
- → and how to deal with health and safety issues at work.

You will look at the health and safety law, safety inspections, risk assessments and preventative measures. This course will provide a thorough grounding in health and safety issues and give you the skills, knowledge and confidence to undertake your role effectively.

Health and safety part 2

If you have completed the health and safety part 1 or your union equivalent, this course will help you to deal with those bigger issues. The course will cover:

- → Effective health & safety organisation and planning,
- → how and when to use it,
- → negotiating a better deal for members,
- → analysing risk assessments,
- \rightarrow health and safety training.

While we try to ensure safer workplaces for our members, we must also recognise the need for equality and diversity. Throughout the course, you will explore equality based issues such as:

- → Gender and PPE
- → Sexual harassment
- → Hidden disabilities
- → Menopause

Diploma in Occupational Health and Safety

If you have completed the Health and Safety Reps parts 1 and 2 or your union equivalent and want to increase your skills and knowledge, then this is your next course. This popular Diploma will help you develop your understanding of health and safety principles and practice. The course will give you the opportunity to explore the development of health and safety law. You will learn how to use health and safety to help improve your trade union organisation and tackle some of the health, safety, welfare and environmental problems within the workplace and beyond. You will also gain study and research skills equipping you with the tools to progress to higher level learning and professional qualifications.

Union learning rep pathway

Union learning reps part 1

If you're a new Union Learning Rep (ULR), this course is essential. It will give you the skills and knowledge that you need to be an effective ULR. The role of a ULR is much more than simply setting up courses in your workplace. It is about working within your branch, with your employer and with colleges and providers to widen access to learning and ensure equality of opportunity in your workplace. The course will teach you:

- \rightarrow The role of trade unions in learning and skills
- \rightarrow The role of the ULR
- → Trade union approaches to workplace learning and relevant best practice models
- \rightarrow Key policies and programmes relevant to the adult skills system in Wales
- → How to promote learning in your workplace
- \rightarrow How to identify learning needs
- → How to work with your branch and your employer to remove barriers to learning and inwork progression

Young workers

Young workers are most likely to be in insecure work, in low paid jobs and without opportunities to progress at work than any other age group. Unions mean better pay, secure jobs and training on the job, yet very few young workers are in unions.

Unlike previous generations, current young workers are not turning to unions in the same numbers. Young workers' absence from trade unionism has many interrelating causes and challenges:

- → how unions organise the next generation of workers
- → young people's perception of collectivism
- → low levels of unionisation in the private sector
- → Younger workers thinking unions aren't for them - believing that we exist for older people

But we know different.

Unions are for everyone. They've had a tremendously positive impact on millions of people's lives and can continue to do so. To meet the challenges facing young workers today, we've created a Young Workers toolkit to help you organise young people in your workplace.

The toolkit will help you:

- → Understand the challenges facing young workers today
- → Think about how you engage with younger workers with an offer that's compelling to them
- → Create meaningful space in your branch that gives younger workers the space to make a difference.

Covid-19 and our courses

How Covid-19 affected our courses. In March 2020, we needed to postpone all our classroom based courses due to:

- → the severe health impact of Covid-19
- → ensuring the health, safety & wellbeing of our reps and tutors
- → being unable to maintain social distancing guidelines in the classroom

What have we done to overcome this? The Wales TUC together with our course providers Addysg Oedolion Cymru I Adult Learning Wales and Coleg Gwent have been working hard to develop tutor led online course for our reps.

Over the next 2 pages you'll see a list of the online provision that will be offered by our training providers. The courses on offer will all be tutor led. Each course will have online classrooms through MS Teams, interactive sessions, individual learning, group work, Q&A sessions and more.

We recognise how important having trained reps is and will continue to work hard to offer more courses online. As we move forward we will continue to assess the situation with the potential to return to the classroom, if this seems unlikely we will be working to release more online courses.

Our aim is to get back to the classroom as soon as is safely possible. In the meantime we hope you find the online provision useful.

A 'just transition' to a greener and fairer Wales

The Wales TUC recognises that the climate and nature emergency is one of the gravest threats we face. We welcome the Welsh Government's ambitious new climate targets to reach net-zero by 2050, with decisive action in the next decade.

Reaching net zero means that greenhouse gas emissions must be reduced drastically. And any small remaining emissions that cannot be prevented must be reabsorbed.

The move to net zero will mean big changes in our workplaces. As trade unions, we are committed to organising to protect our planet for future generations and to standing up for fairness for workers, especially during times of change. We have called for a just transition to net zero. A just transition is done with workers and communities, not to them. It's one that builds a greener, fairer and more equitable future that protects jobs, our health and the planet.

Greener workplaces

Over half of carbon emissions are work-related, so workplaces have a huge role to play in the effort to reaching net zero. Many workplaces can significantly reduce their carbon footprint right now, for example by:

- maximising every worker's right to flexible working,
- → making sure buildings and appliances are energy efficient,
- → repairing and refurbishing equipment and furniture instead of buying new, and
- \rightarrow activating a Cycle to Work scheme.

Trade union 'green' or environmental reps can play an important role in securing changes for greener and more sustainable workplaces. For more information and ideas about what you can do to campaign for greener and fairer workplaces, download our Greener Workplaces for a Just Transition toolkit. You can also do our new 15 minute online learning module, 'climate change proof your workplace'.

Our new Greener Workplaces Network meets online every other month and is a chance to network, share good practice, receive campaign updates and hear from guest speakers.

New green/ environmental courses for reps

Greening our workplaces – 'green skills' for trade unionists (online)

This course is aimed at both new and experienced green/environmental reps as well as other trade unionists who wish to take practical action on the climate and nature emergency in their workplace.

Course duration: 3 days of learning (1 day per week spread over 3 weeks).

Dates: 3 consecutive Thursdays - 9th, 16th and 23rd September 2021

Negotiating for a Just Transition (online)

This course will help to equip union reps, health and safety reps, green reps and branch officials with information and ideas about how to respond strategically to the challenge of giving workers a voice on the transition to a net-zero economy. It will help union reps to develop negotiation strategies on workplace transition planning and develop understanding of the wider impact of the transition on issues such as workplace skills, jobs and health and safety.

Course duration: 3 days of learning – 1 day per week spread over 3 consecutive weeks

Dates: Tuesday 28th September, Tuesday 5th October and Tuesday 12th October 2021

Shwmae pawb Hello everyone

Cymraeg

Wales TUC is on a journey towards becoming a bilingual organisation. We aspire to become a bilingual organisation that works within a nation that has two official languages.

We want to become more bilingual so that we can:

- → Meet the expectations and requirements of the 562,000 Welsh speakers who live in Wales
- → Communicate better with Welsh speakers, especially younger workers
- → Be a role model and leader for unions and employers

In order to achieve our goal of becoming a bilingual organisation we have committed to treating the Welsh and English languages equally within Wales TUC. We recognise that a commitment to the Welsh Language is a component of our commitment to equality and diversity.

Our current Welsh language offer

When communicating with Wales TUC you can expect to:

- → Find parts of the Wales TUC website are bilingual
- → Be able to speak to member of staff wearing the laith Gwaith badge in Welsh
- → Email or write to us in Welsh – we will respond in the same language
- → See us using Welsh on social media and responding to your Welsh language comments in Welsh

What's next

As we become a more bilingual organisation you should see:

- → All printed publications being available bilingually
- → An increase the amount of online content we publish bilingually
- → An increase the amount of Welsh spoken at events by speakers and reception desk staff
- → Written elements of materials on reps training courses available in Welsh eNotes, webinars and more

Having a break? Why not visit our website and take an eNote, watch a webinar or read a blog?

We know it's hard to keep up to date with the key issues facing your members in the workplace. That's why we've developed eNotes - they're a bite-sized resource to help you keep up to speed with key workplace issues.

Each module is a mix of text, video and quizzes. In not much more time than it takes to have a cuppa you will gain a good understanding of the subject. Plus you can share thoughts and ideas with other users online. All our webinars are delivered by leading experts in their field. Covering a broad range of topics, they're informative, insightful and each video ranges from 30 minutes to an hour.

We have something for everyone and with 24/7 access, you can read, watch and learn at your own pace whenever and wherever's convenient for you - all the content has been designed to work equally well on your smartphone, tablet or desktop computer.

So why not grab a cuppa and get started.

Union Learning Rep forum

Are you a current ULR in Wales? Are you interested in becoming a ULR? We want to hear from you and add your voice to our Network Forum. We are holding regular online forums dedicated for ULRs across Wales to connect, share experiences and network ideas.

If you wish to join the ULR Network Forum and meet with other reps, access briefings and share your workplace stories, we would love to hear from you.

Future ULR Network Forums

- → 18 August
- → 13 Oct
- → 8 Dec
- → 9 Feb (2022)
- → 13 April (2022)

*Further dates will be arranged and distributed in February 2022

Problem gambling

There are an estimated 30,000 people in Wales who experience problem/harmful gambling. Many more are at risk of developing gambling harms, which extend beyond the gambler to affected others such as families, friends, and colleagues.

The impacts of gambling harms on individuals and their loved ones can be severe - with an estimated one gambling related suicide every day in the UK. It can also lead to unemployment, huge debts and family break ups.

The damage is caused not just by the addictiveness of some gambling products, but also the stigma that surrounds gambling addictions – which stops those that need support from reaching out for help.

This is where unions come in. Much in the same way that unions have been key in reducing the stigma around mental health in the workplace, we are now looking to play a similar role in relation to problem gambling. Trade unions, working with enlightened employers, can play an important part in tackling problem gambling in the workplace and supporting members along that road to recovery.

The Wales TUC's new Problem Gambling toolkit has been designed to help union reps be more informed on the subject and to give them the confidence to support their members effectively. The aim is to allow the gambler the space they need to reach out and get the support when they need it without fear of judgment.

The toolkit will help you:

- → Understand what problem gambling is and some of the factors that can accelerate it
- → Prepare you to have a meaning full conversation with someone who needs your help
- → Give help and advice on signposting to appropriate support services

Useful toolkits & resources for reps

Useful toolkits & resources for reps

We've been hard at work producing some helpful toolkits and resources to assist you in your reps role. Over the next couple of pages we've included some of the more regularly used toolkits and resources but more can be found by visiting the TUC shop via www.tuc.org.uk

Wales TUC materials

Disability and 'hidden' impairments in the workplace A toolkit for trade unionists Wales TUC Cymru

Disability and 'hidden' Impairments in the workplace

A toolkit for trade unionists developed by Wales TUC Cymru to provide information to help union officers and reps in Wales to improve disability equality in the workplace and represent disabled members.

It aims to help reps to address workplace issues and barriers by providing tools and ideas to help union reps tackle discrimination as well as examples of good practice.

https://www.tuc.org.uk/disability-and-hidden-impairments-workplace

Menopause in the workplace

A toolkit for trade unionists developed by Wales TUC Cymru to provide information to help union officers and reps in Wales to represent members affected by the menopause.

It aims to help reps in recognising and addressing the workplace issues that can worsen women's symptoms. It provides tools and ideas to help union reps to campaign on the health and safety and equality issues surrounding the menopause.

https://www.tuc.org.uk/news/menopause-workplace

Autism awareness in the workplace

The aim of this toolkit is to provide information to help union officers and reps in Wales to represent members with autism or those who have close family with autism.

The toolkit will help reps to recognise the workplace issues that can impact on people with autism and will give them the information and guidance they need to help tackle those issues. It is also a resource for the Wales TUC's autism eNote and workplace course.

https://www.tuc.org.uk/autism-awareness-workplace

Mental health and the Workplace A toolkit for trade anionists Wales TUC Cymru

Mental health and the workplace

A toolkit to provide information to help union officers and reps in Wales to represent members affected by mental health.

It aims to help reps in recognising and addressing workplace issues that can worsen people's mental health and provides tools and ideas to help union reps campaign on the health and safety and equality issues surrounding mental health in the workplace. This toolkit also acts as a resource providing activities that can be run with colleagues to educate them and others.

https://www.tuc.org.uk/mental-health-workplace

Supporting older workers

A toolkit for trade unionists to help union officers and reps in Wales raise awareness of how workplaces can provide better support and opportunities for older workers.

It provides ideas and resources to help trade union reps press employers for more age-friendly workplaces, tackle discrimination against older workers and create more inclusive, healthy and sustainable workplaces for everyone as they grow older.

https://www.tuc.org.uk/sites/default/files/2020-08/olderworkers11_3. pdf

Reaching younger workers

A toolkit for trade unionists to communicate the need for unions to actively engage with young workers, and to give them the platform to speak for themselves. We know that for unions to still be relevant in the future, they need to be relevant to young workers now.

Young workers are more than tomorrow's members, they are part of today's fight, and if we as a movement want to build and grow, we need to be engaging with them with a compelling offer in a language they can relate to. This toolkit is aimed to help you do just that.

https://www.tuc.org.uk/sites/default/files/2021-05/Young%20 Workers%20toolkit%20v3.pdf

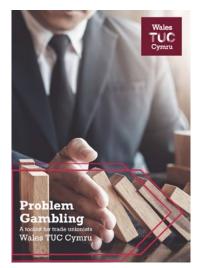

Greener workplaces for a just transition

A toolkit for trade unionists aimed to provide information to help union officers and reps in Wales who want to take action on the climate emergency and negotiate for greener and fairer workplaces. It is designed to support the voice of workers and their unions.

It provides information, tools and ideas to help union reps to campaign, organise and raise awareness. It also includes negotiating and bargaining checklists on different areas of workplace sustainability. It aims to ensure that workers, through their unions, have a central voice in the changes that will be needed in every workplace to ensure Wales can achieve a just transition to a greener and fairer Wales.

https://www.tuc.org.uk/sites/default/files/2021-06/ greenerworkplaces_may21_2.pdf

Problem gambling

The aim of this toolkit is to raise awareness and provide information to help union officers and reps in Wales to represent and support members who are, or may be, affected by gambling harms. Gambling harms can affect anyone.

This guide will highlight the 'hidden harms' of problem gambling and its far reaching effect on families, friends, colleagues and the community. This toolkit will enable you to give appropriate information and guidance aimed to signpost individuals for referral to external support agencies for more specialist interventions.

Your Health at Work

This book completely updates the TUC's publication, Keeping Well at Work from the early 2000s. It covers the most common physical and mental health risks at work and how you can tackle them.

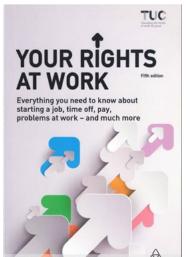

Ideal for reps and officers advising members and negotiating with employers.

This 240-page soft back handbook is a valuable reference book, and a must-have for all trade unionists.

Workplace guidance

TUC Workplace Manual: Third Edition

After the success of the first edition back in 2012, the TUC has revised this popular manual to include recent legal changes in employment law and employee rights.

Invaluable not only for stewards, equality, green or health and safety reps but for anyone who represents, advises or supports members.

Working time, breaks and holidays - Know Your Rights booklet

The law relating to your working time is complicated. Some bad employers take advantage of this to deny staff their rights. Others may not understand what the law requires.

Step by step, this leaflet explains weekly hours limits and night working limits; and your rights to breaks, rest periods and paid holiday.

This publication is just a short guide, not a full statement of the law. If your rights are being ignored get advice from your trade union about taking action to enforce them. For further information on other rights at work, visit https://www.tuc.org.uk/know-your-rights

Protection from sexual harassment

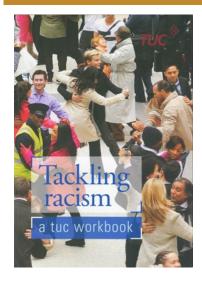

Protection from Sexual Harassment - Revised 2018

It does not matter how long you have worked for your employer or whether you are an apprentice, a trainee or agency worker, you are protected from sexual harassment in the workplace by the Equality Act 2010.

This booklet describes the offence, it's impact and the rights you have to fight back if it happens.

Equalities

Tackling Racism: a TUC Workbook

This book is a tool to assist union reps in vigorously opposing racism and promoting race equality in the workplace.

Originally produced in 2000, this edition was published in 2011, but is still a useful workbook.
