EDUCATION AND GENDER EQUALITY: LEARNING LESSONS, MOVING FORWARD

Monday 17 November 2014

9.15am to 3.45pm

Queen Elizabeth II Conference Centre, Westminster, London

This national Conference takes place at the end of the campaign year, Unite for Quality Education, which aims to secure quality education for every child and young person on the planet. Against this backdrop, the Conference will consider why education equality for girls and women should be a national and international priority, and the role that schools and teachers play in securing better outcomes for girls and women.

The Conference will:

- stimulate professional and policy debate and consider policy priorities for advancing gender equality in schools and colleges;
- give participants access to practical information, materials and resources; and
- enable participants to understand and share research, practice and developments in the area of gender equality in education.

Speakers include:

- Bonnie Greer, playwright, author and novelist;
- Professor Averil Macdonald, Women in Science, Technology and Engineering Campaign;
- Professor Gaby Weiner, Visiting Professor, University of Sussex and Manchester Metropolitan University;
- Haldis Holst, Deputy General Secretary, Education International (Conference Chair)
- Chris Keates, General Secretary, NASUWT.
