

HEARTUNIONS CELEBRATING YOUR VOICE AT WORK

HeartUnions week will be taking place from 12 to 18 February 2018. It's a week of activity throughout England and Wales that:

- › focuses on the good work that unions do
- › shows how unions offer everyone a voice at work.
- › campaigning for a funded, above inflation pay rise for all public service workers. You can support this campaign by visiting tuc.good.do/heartunions/showsomelove and showing some love to public sector workers.

Unions represent people at work, raising concerns and working with employers to tackle problems. This week you can help by:

- › signing the petition in support of young workers organising at McDonald's and putting pressure on the company to recognise the union that's backing them, at tuc.org.uk/mcdonalds

WHY JOIN A UNION?

Unions help workers get together, stop people being treated unfairly and get a better deal from their employers. With almost six million members, they're the voice of Britain at work.

Unions are there for you when times are tough, protecting your rights at work and making sure workers are treated fairly. And every year unions help more than 250,000 people get the training and learning opportunities they need to move on in their career.

It's always good to join a union that's already active where you work – ask your colleagues or look for a union noticeboard or information on staff web pages.

Some unions are for specific careers, such as teachers or health professionals. For other occupations general unions offer good service and support.

If you're confused about which union to join, you can use our online union finder

EVERYONE DESERVES A GREAT JOB

Unions believe that everyone deserves a great job where you:

- › get paid fairly
- › work in a safe and healthy environment
- › get treated decently
- › have guaranteed hours
- › can be represented by unions and have a strong independent voice on what matters at work
- › get the chance to progress at work and get on in life.

We've put together the Great Jobs Agenda to help more people get access to decent work. Find out more at tuc.org.uk/campaigns/charter-make-every-job-great-job
