As the weak and unpopular Tory Government continues to rapidly implement their austerity agenda, they have also launched an offensive against trade unions. The vicious anti-union bill cuts union funding and makes it harder for workers to exercise their democratic right to strike.

The Tory's real motive is clear, to hamper any resistance to their assault on public services and working class living standards. It was unions who first fought for May Day as a holiday for working people. This year we mark it by fighting back!
